

To Whom It May Concern, Is the NAB scared about XM radio taking listerner away from them?? I am willing to pay a price every mouth to listen to XM radio. NAB and other need to step up to the plate and improve radio then XM radio would not be a factor. The traffic and weather channles are GREAT!! They are more detail in what traffic is doing around the major cities. The local radio stations around the area do not go in detail what is going on. They say the major area of concern and nothing else. And then it only last maybe 30 seconds then I have to wait another 15 minutes or more to hear another traffic report. XM radio goes in great detail not on just interstates but on the streets of the major cities and detail ALL the road construction around the area. Maybe the NAB and other radios stations that are trying to put XM radio down should take note on what they are doing and try to improve it. Then you would not have to worry about XM radio. A little hard work would go along way but the way it looks to me, the NAB is taking the lazy way out of it!!
